The Crying of Lot 49. The Crying of Lot 49, Pynchon Thomas. 1. ONE summer afternoon Mrs Oedipa Maas came home from a Tupperware party whose hostess had put perhaps too much kirsch in the fondue to find that she, Oedipa, had been named executor, or she supposed executrix, of the estate of one Pierce Inverarity, a California real estate mogul who had once lost two million collars in his spare time but still had assets numerous and tangled enough to make the job of sorting it all out more than ...

The Crying of Lot 49

The Crying of Lot 49 is steeped in the contradictions and countercultures of 1960s America. For instance, Pynchon parodies American Beatlemania through a rock band called The Paranoids, who dress like their idols, write Beatles cover songs, and sing in English accents (even though they are American).
